Portland Community Garden Plot Information

Community gardens strengthen local communities, stimulate social interaction, create opportunity for recreation, exercise, therapy, and education, reduce crime, and help individuals and families conserve resources and save money.

General Information

Portland Parks & Recreation's Community Gardens Program provides plots of land to people who are interested in growing their own food and participating in a vibrant garden community. Garden plots are assigned for the garden season ending October 31, with the option to renew the plot the following year.

For 2012 the cost for garden plots are:

- $21 for a single plot
- $43 for a standard plot
- $85 for a double plot
- $20 for an ADA accessible raised bed

A single-sized plot is recommended for beginning gardeners and/or families of 1-2 people. Standard-sized plots are good for families of 2-3 people, and double-sized plots are more appropriate for large families or groups.

Included in the plot fee are water and access to a community garden shed to store tools. Gardeners are responsible for providing their own seeds, plants, soil amendments, hoses, and tools.

To register for a plot, visit the Community Gardens website and complete the Garden Plot Request Form. Those with no internet access can call the office and complete the form over the phone. Once registered, you will be placed on the waitlist for a plot based on the date the form is received. Garden plots are assigned on a first-come, first-serve basis. You will be notified when a plot becomes available.

Scholarships are provided to individuals or families who need assistance. For scholarship information visit the Community Gardens website or call 503-823-1612 to receive the form by mail.

Gardener Responsibilities

Portland Parks & Recreation requires that gardeners use organic gardening techniques and prohibit any chemical pesticides or fertilizers in the garden. Other responsibilities of gardeners include:

- Donate 6 hours of time to community projects at the garden site
- Maintain pathways and community areas
- Maintain a productive garden year round
- Compost garden waste in their garden plot or take off site
- Keep gardens weeded
- Mulch or cover-crop gardens when not in use

Produce for People

PP&R encourages community gardeners to grow and donate produce to local food banks through the Produce for People program. In 2011, gardeners donated more than 12,000 pounds of produce to local agencies. If you are interested in getting involved with this volunteer-driven effort at your garden site, contact Kathy Dang at Kathy.Dang@PortlandOregon.gov or 503-823-1612.
