

Heritage Trees of Portland

MONKEY PUZZLE (Araucaria araucana) ARAUCARIACEAE

- Native to Chilean mountains.
- In the wild can attain over 100' in height.
- A primitive conifer - the leaves are scaly, thick, overlapping, and very sharp.
- Tree is either male (with large oblong cones) or female (with round cones 6" across). Seeds are edible and tasty when heated.
- Quite common in Portland. The 1905 Lewis & Clark Exposition gave seedlings away, making many trees in Portland similar sizes. The Heritage Trees are males.
