Tosin	Abiodun	Portland Bureau of Transportation	tosin.abiodun@portlandoregon.gov	Dr. Tosin Abiodun is the interim Equity Manager for PBOT, previously Equity Coordinator. She stepped into this challenging role 3 months ago--as our previous Equity Manager left recently. Immediately, Tosin is running full speed with the equity work at PBOT. She is an amazing organizer and encourages people across the Bureau to become more involved in the work. She is kind spirited and warm despite the difficulty of her job. Tosin is also eager to empower others and endlessly supportive of POC staff. I have been impressed with her enthusiasm as she embraced this responsibility and I would like to see the sweat and tears she has poured into the job be recognized.	Marisa Trujillo DeMull	Portland Bureau of Transportation
Tosin	Abiodun	Portland Bureau of Transportation	tosin.abiodun@portlandoregon.gov	Tosin, we are all very lucky to have you leading the Bureau's equity work. I feel so lucky to be working with you. You are an incredible, intelligent, organized, thoughtful, and inspirational leader. I know that I am a better employee because of you. I never thought poetry could change my perspective on meetings, but somehow you knew it was a good reset. I love that you lead by example and always provide opportunities for those around you to utilize our given talents. You really see and understand each individual and it shows in how you lead. The Bureau is lucky to have you and I feel very lucky to be able to work more closely with you. Thank you for you for always focusing the Bureau on equity, and for your meticulous attention to detail! It is a true joy to work with you.	Bridgette Coleman	Portland Bureau of Transportation

Jay	Brannon	Bureau of Environmental Services	jay.brannon@portlandoregon.gov	For Jay's tremendous work and commitments advancing the cause of Racial, Environmental and Climate Justice at the City of Portland, whether that be in a leadership capacity of the City's African American Network, as the Chairperson of the Portland Branch of the NAACP Environmental Justice Committee, or as an employee of this great City. Jay leads with her values, and many are inspired to follow in her footsteps.	David O'Longaigh	Portland Water Bureau
Jay	Brannon	Bureau of Environmental Services	jay.brannon@portlandoregon.gov	Jay is a rising leader who has a growth mindset and a drive that ignites her spirit to achieve beyond expectation. Her work in the NAACP and her continuous support of the African American community are awe-inspiring! She has broken barriers in the workplace as an engineer and is a role model for the youth she mentors.	Ana Brophy	Bureau of Environmental Services
Jay	Brannon	Bureau of Environmental Services	Jay.Brannon@portlandoregon.gov	Jay is currently the longest serving leader on the City's African American Network (CAAN) leadership team. She understands the importance of having this affinity group to advocate and support black staff at the City. Jay is selfless in her mission and outside of CAAN and the city is a mentor and scholarship funder for diverse females in STEAM and Engineering. Her, age belies her wisdom and focus.	Lorraine Wilson	Office of Community & Civic Life
Jay	Brannon	Bureau of Environmental Services	jay.brannon@portlandoregon.gov	Jay's work ethic and concern of taxpayer dollars are only two of the values she brings to every task. She incorporates her knowledge and experience with innovative ideas when designing capital improvement projects. This approach helps expedite her projects through the design phase while still delivering a top-quality project for construction.	Susan Hjorten	Bureau of Environmental Services

Cynthia	Castro	Commissioner Carmen Rubio's Office	Cynthia.M.Castro@portlandoregon.gov	Cynthia stands out on all of the above, she is an exceptional leader in our halls and in the community. Thank you Cynthia for your mentorship and dedication to improving the lives of so many.	Yesenia Carrillo	Commissioner Dan Ryan's Office
Cynthia	Castro	Commissioner Carmen Rubio's Office	Cynthia.M.Castro@portlandoregon.gov	Cynthia is an exceptional co-worker and a role model as an employee that lives her values and walks the walk. Her work on the Citywide Disability Equity Goals gave me hope for an inclusive workplace and made me feel truly seen.	Anne Kroma	Bureau of Parks and Recreation
Cynthia	Castro	Commissioner Carmen Rubio's Office	Cynthia.M.Castro@portlandoregon.gov	Cynthia is an extraordinary human and public servant. Over the many years she has worked for the City of Portland, she has diligently created multiple opportunities for our communities to truly participate on the various ways the City can best serve them. Even though the public has been of her forefront, she has also consistently and diligently created incredible opportunities for us public servants (such as mentorship and leadership programs for City employees) to have greater opportunities, and bring our best selves to what we do. Most recently, in collaboration with Tatiana Elejalde, Yesenia Carrillo, Huitzi Rios-Martinez, Andres Oswill, and Santos Aguilar, Cynthia lead the efforts to create and approve RESOLUTION No. 37525 to Establish a language pay differential for multilingual City employees and authorize the Bureau of Human Resources and the Office of Equity and Human Rights to establish processes and procedures necessary for implementation. This is a landmark accomplishment! It will help celebrate the plurality of our life experiences and recognize a soft skill like language ability as a real value to our work. This resolution will further prevent exploitation of many employees that are frequently asked to translate, interpret, and review documents without compensation. In the City's effort to best serve our communities in a meaningful way, this resolution is a right step towards a just future!	Georgia West	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management

Tatiana	Elejalde	Office of Equity and Human Rights	tatiana.elejalde@portlandoregon.gov	Tatiana has made a tremendous difference in the lives of disenfranchised community members, not only in her role as the City's Language Access Lead, but also in her roles at the City's Emergency Coordination Center (ECC). She was instrumental in getting vital public health messaging to multilingual communities in over 20 languages--including Indigenous languages unfamiliar to many Portlanders. Her language access guidance helped the ECC address food insecurity and financial needs in multilingual communities. As the ECC Equity Officer, she has ensured that all staff (over 80 employees) have a broad understanding of equity during an emergency response. She has worked this full-time job in addition to her full-time duties at the Office of Equity and Human Rights. Her lived experience as a multilingual immigrant from Colombia who also lived in Japan gives her a unique lens to guide the City in language access and equity. Her talent and passion for equity make her uniquely deserving of the Exceptional Wonder Woman Award.		Office of Equity and Human Rights
Tatiana	Elejalde	Office of Equity and Human Rights	Tatiana.Elejalde@portlandoregon.gov	Tatiana is an amazing and talented person I have had a chance to work with during the pandemic! Her commitment to serve and advocate for our communities is impeccable.	Regina Ingabire

Natasha	Haunsperger	Portland Police Bureau	Natasha.Haunsperger@portlandoregon.gov	Natasha's ability to connect to people is a gift to the Portland Police Bureau. She engages people respectfully and professionally while staying human, candid, and real. Natasha works incredibly hard on multiple projects at a time and is constantly advancing PPB's practices to better serve and connect with the community. Significantly, Natasha has spearheaded efforts to improve language access so that everyone in our community can effectively communicate for police services. Finally, Natasha is an incredibly kind, generous, and knowledgeable mentor. She is willing to help others during her personal time and she recognizes the need for improved relationship building and support among women at PPB.	Laurel Green-Mitchell	Portland Police Bureau
Natasha	Haunsperger	Portland Police Bureau	natasha.haunsperger@portlandoregon.gov	The impact of Natasha's service to the PPB and, perhaps more importantly, the Portland community is beyond measure. Her thoughtful approach to engaging community members, particularly immigrant communities, is a model for meaningful, deliberate, and considerate relationship building between an institution and the community it serves. One example of this is the work she does and relationships she has formed with the PPB's community advisory groups (e.g., Muslim Council, Latino Council, Slavic Council, etc.). Natasha attends every meeting, largely taking on a listening posture and, when prompted, providing honest and meaningful feedback to group concerns and questions. Natasha's strategic vision and respectful practices in this regard undoubtedly advance community engagement-focused Bureau goals. Her personable demeanor and ability to form meaningful connections extend to her working relationships with her colleagues, as well. Despite juggling several priorities and projects, Natasha is always eager to support her peers in any capacity that she can. Her dedication to her work, the innovative lens through which she tackles that work, and the intimate bonds she forms with those around her are inspiring.	Ashley Lancaster	Portland Police Bureau

Kim	Sneath	City Attorney's Office	kim.sneath@portlandoregon.gov	Kim Sneath's contributions to the City Attorney's Office cannot be overstated. Kim is responsible for all administrative functions of the office, leading 30 legal support professionals, and keeping 42 attorneys fully supported so, as a team, we can provide the City with exceptional legal representation. Her leadership, hard work, candor, and positive attitude set the bar for professionalism. Kim is known throughout City government as the go-to person when there is a task at hand. Whether it's the assignment of an urgent legal matter, a human resources issue or a request from an elected official, Kim knows how to get the job done. She oversees every aspect of staffing the City Attorney's Office, from filling position vacancies and preparing payroll to ensuring that everyone has the tools they need to do their job well. Kim cares deeply about the City Attorney's Office, and it shows in everything she does. She makes each person feel valued by acknowledging personal and professional milestones or just checking in to make sure that they are happy in their position. She listens and offers valuable advice to those who seek it. Kim's dedication goes beyond the City Attorney's Office. She has left her mark on City employees across the bureaus. In 2012, Kim founded the City's Women Making History Award to acknowledge local female champions during Women's History Month. That award soon grew into the Wonder Woman Award, which today recognizes hundreds of employees for their exemplary commitment to the City they serve! Kim Sneath has been the trusted support professional—indeed, the rock—for five City Attorneys. She will leave an indelible mark on the City Attorney's Office when she retires this spring with nearly 30	Robert Taylor	City Attorney's Office
Kim	Sneath	City Attorney's Office	kim.sneath@portlandoregon.gov	For exceptional commitment to equity while serving on the Leadership Committee for the Office of the City Attorney from September 2019 to March 2021, Kim's professionalism, dedication, and stellar performance continued advancing equity in the Inclusive Workplace Project. Kim's performance reflects great credit upon herself, the Office of the City Attorney, and the City of Portland.	Tony Garcia	City Attorney's Office

Markisha	Webster Smith	Office of Equity and Human Rights	Markisha.Smith@portlandoregon.gov	Over the last year and particularly after the brutal murder of George Floyd. Dr. Smith provided the support and leadership that was needed. She spoke up and out, centering black staff at the city and black residents. Dr. Smith did what few leaders are prepared to do. Put their job on the line. Dr. Smith did not just respond to a moment in time. She has been and continue to be working on transformative changes within the city for the city. She has the supernatural responsibilities of a woman, mother and all that comes with those titles, while graciously being selfless in her work.	Lorraine Wilson	Office of Community & Civic Life
Markisha	Webster Smith	Office of Equity and Human Rights	Markisha.Smith@portlandoregon.gov	Dr. Markisha Webster is the embodiment of Black Excellence. Leading a team through a pandemic would be enough responsibility for anyone, but Dr. Webster has consistently answered the call of leadership. She has become a voice of racial equity not just for the City, but for the region as well. Her love and leadership are recognized by her Office of Equity team, and I am excited that the rest of the City, including the Mayor's Office, is recognizing her amazing talents as well. Katy	Wolf	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	Heather.Hafer@portlandoregon.gov	Katy has managed the ECC for over a year, and she's done an outstanding job. She's intelligent, hardworking and dedicated and creates collaborative working environments. She gives her team autonomy to do their best work, but supports them however they need it. Working in the ECC under Katy's leadership is a career highlight. The City is very lucky to benefit from Katy's talent and expertise.	Heather Hafer	Office of Management & Finance
Katy	Wolf	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	katy.wolf@portlandoregon.gov	For over a year, Katy has led the ECC in our response to COVID 19. She has been managing Logistics, Finance, Information, Planning, Safety and Operation personnel in equitably caring for the most vulnerable members of our community. The city owes her a giant debt of gratitude.	Kevin Shanders	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management
Katy	Wolf	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	Katy.Wolf@portlandoregon.gov	She has led the Emergency Command Center for the past year during this pandemic! Katy is always calm, cool and collected displaying what great leadership should look like. In this time she had not only given directions but shown by example what needs to be done to lead us to addressing the needs for those most vulnerable during this pandemic!	Jane Doyle	Bureau of Parks and Recreation
Katy	Wolf	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	Katy.Wolf@portlandoregon.gov	Katy has been an exceptional role model, mentor, and leader this year. Her commitment to ensuring that the City of Portland is was ready and organized to take on several emergencies this year went above and beyond and the city is better for it. I was able to work virtually for the ECC for one week and Katy did a wonderful job walking me through everything, prepping staff to assist, and generally making it as smooth as possible. I can only imagine how much time and energy she has put in this year to serve the City and our residents. They City of Portland is luck to have her.	Elisabeth Perez	Office for Community Technology
Katy	Wolf	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	katy.wolf	Katy has been a huge asset especially this last year when she had to help lead the response effort for COVID for the city. She is on top of all of the many efforts going on and is responsive even with her beyond full plate.	Ronnie Mompeller	Bureau of Environmental Services

Katy	Wolf	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	katy.wolf	"Katy is a true Portland Wonder Woman. Working with her during the pandemic I have seen her assume control of an evolving emergency with a cool head and a steady hand. Katy leads the city's emergency coordination efforts with true partnership, effortlessly switching from high-level direction to detailed decision-making on hundreds of essential projects. When Katy is in charge you know that work will be done well, compassionately, and on schedule. Kudos for supporting the entire city through this incredible year."	Gabriel Solmer, Bureau Director	Portland Water Bureau
Katy	Wolf	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	katy.wolf	"After serving at least three "tours" in the Emergency Operations Center (EOC) during the pandemic I learned a couple of things. First among those things was an appreciation for the PBEM staff, especially Katy Wolf. Katy is a stellar performer. A real leader. A fine collaborator. Katy has a deep understanding of the relationships among the various entities involved in the emergency response - bureaus, city, county, and state. She is creative and will drive problems to a solution. The EOC is run by a constantly rotating staff of varying skills and talents. Katy capitalizes on the individual's strengths and deals quietly but firmly with weaknesses. The City of Portland is fortunate to have Katy on the City team."	Mike Stuhr, Former Bureau Director	Portland Water Bureau
Katy	Wolf	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	katy.wolf	"Katy Wolf is demonstrated time and time again that she is a strong, grounded leader. She brings a forward-looking analysis and view to situations, as well as a sense of calm and groundedness. As Incident Commander at the ECC, I witness Katy's leadership style which is inclusive and empowering. She provides clear direction and expectations and empowers her teams to accomplish their work. Portland's emergency response has been effective and more inclusive, including bringing a focus on serving the needs of the most vulnerable in our community, thanks to Katy's leadership. Katy is a wonder woman in Portland."	Andrea Curbin, Bureau Director	Bureau of Planning & Sustainability
Katy	Wolf	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	katy.wolf	"Katy does an incredible job coordinating everything at the ECC. She brings her A-game to every meeting and exudes the perfect balance of calm, dedication, and professionalism. It's impressive to watch her coordinate and keep track of all the moving pieces. Well done and well deserved!"	Jeff Baer, Bureau Director	Bureau of Technology Services

Katy	Wolf	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	katy.wolf	"I nominate Katy Wolf for the Wonder Woman Award because of Katy's constant, remarkable, and expert leadership as the City's Emergency Coordination Center Manager. Katy has created a transparent, inclusive, collaborative, and outcomes-oriented structure, team, and culture to respond to the COVID-19 pandemic. She has risen, time and again, to multiple and concurrent emergencies. And she does this in a way that earns and keeps trust, builds strong relationships, and creates open lines of communication across a broad and diverse constituency. She also keeps community members, those who have been and are directly impacted by emergencies, at the heart of the work. As a younger, newer employee to the City, I want to personally note the inspiring role she plays as a mentor. She makes me proud to work for government and to see how to realize government's full potential at a time when so many are skeptical or outright hostile to public service. Because of her, I have a much clearer sense of what to means to "show up for community" as a public servant."	Samuel Diaz, Sr. Policy Advisory	Mayor Ted Wheeler's Office
Katy	Wolf	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	katy.wolf	"Serving at the ECC in both May and November 2020 allowed me to glimpse the stages and phases of this extended emergency response. The ECC model is not one that was designed for a pandemic such as this, and Katy has demonstrated adaptation, patience and collaboration in order to serve the community, city bureaus and individuals working at the ECC itself. This requires being grounded in your training and what you know, as well as letting that go of all of that in equal (or greater) measure. Thank you, Katy, for your exemplary service to the ECC during these historic times."	Suk Rhee, Bureau Director	Office of Community & Civic Life

Katy	Wolf	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	katy.wolf	"I would like to join the effort to nominate Katy Wolf for the City's "Wonder Woman" award. I had the opportunity to spend a week with Katy over the summer in the Emergency Operations Center for the city's COVID response. I was impressed by her ability to manage a number of priorities simultaneously, and to work with her team on a wide variety of issues to produce a well-organized, effective response. And she did it all with a level of calm and grace that showed exceptional leadership. Our community is fortunate to have Katy as one of its public servants. She is highly deserving of this recognition of her leadership skill and expertise in emergency management." – Chris Davis, Deputy Chief, Portland Police Bureau	Chris Davis, Deputy Chief	Portland Police Bureau
Katy	Wolf	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	katy.wolf	"I would like to take a moment to write in support of Katy Wolf's nomination for the Wonder Woman Award. During my rotation as incident commander at the ECC and other work with Katy, she has proven to be a highly organized manager who ensures ECC teams perform at a high level and communicate well. Katy also exhibits a high degree of emotional intelligence, advising staff through issues they encounter and ensures that staff function as a team. Katy is also incredibly dedicated to the work of the ECC and the communities the City serves. She has made extraordinary efforts in her role and Portland has benefited immensely as result."	Dan Eisenbeis, Deputy Director & Regional Liaison	Office of Government Relations
Katy	Wolf	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	katy.wolf	"Katy has ensured that equity is institutionalized in all levels of the Emergency Coordination Center's (ECC's) work since the beginning of the pandemic response.
