

Full Name	Nominee's Bureau/Office	Description	Nominator Name	Nominator Bureau/Office
Angela Carkner	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	Wonder Women lead the charge to save others. Wonder-Responders demonstrated their commitment to help others during a long 2-year COVID-19 response that tested the limits of emergency response capacity to extremes. Every person was affected and touched by the pandemic. During this prolonged response and with many major adjustments for all in the City, additional emergencies arose – a heat dome with deadly excessive heat, snow and ice storms, power outages, and a chlorine shortage. The City set up shelters and vaccination clinics, we planned for continuity of operations, we discussed safety protocols and implemented them, and the City Emergency Coordination Center along with other Bureaus, remained activated on duty throughout this tumultuous time. Our female colleagues and work friends met the pandemic challenge, adapting in ways we never knew would be needed. I am proud of all of their efforts, and grateful for their steady resolve, their resilience, and their tremendous support. Some of my heroes may not think they were serving as responders, because they were doing their regular work, but it is often the foundational core duties that others perform that support successful emergency response. I greatly value that support and feel that everyone had a role in keeping the City functional, and in ensuring each others' safety – We got through this together. Wonder-Responders and the people who support their efforts all put on their COVID-Capes and became COVID-Conquerers, which is wonderful indeed!	Kim Parsons Anderson	Portland Water Bureau
Elizabeth Crane	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	Wonder Women lead the charge to save others. Wonder-Responders demonstrated their commitment to help others during a long 2-year COVID-19 response that tested the limits of emergency response capacity to extremes. Every person was affected and touched by the pandemic. During this prolonged response and with many major adjustments for all in the City, additional emergencies arose – a heat dome with deadly excessive heat, snow and ice storms, power outages, and a chlorine shortage. The City set up shelters and vaccination clinics, we planned for continuity of operations, we discussed safety protocols and implemented them, and the City Emergency Coordination Center along with other Bureaus, remained activated on duty throughout this tumultuous time. Our female colleagues and work friends met the pandemic challenge, adapting in ways we never knew would be needed. I am proud of all of their efforts, and grateful for their steady resolve, their resilience, and their tremendous support. Some of my heroes may not think they were serving as responders, because they were doing their regular work, but it is often the foundational core duties that others perform that support successful emergency response. I greatly value that support and feel that everyone had a role in keeping the City functional, and in ensuring each others' safety – We got through this together. Wonder-Responders and the people who support their efforts all put on their COVID-Capes and became COVID-Conquerers, which is wonderful indeed!	Kim Parsons Anderson	Portland Water Bureau
Georgia West	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	Georgia continues to do her work as an analyst, leading with science AND equity to make the City a better more just place. She is passionate about helping others and connecting people to create support systems for those who haven't had them. Georgia is a Wonder Woman!	Michelle Rodriguez	Not Applicable
Georgia West	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	Georgia showed exceptional professionalism and dedication during a difficult time. She successfully managed the transition to a new role, training me in her previous role, taking care of her sick child, and meeting budget-related deadlines. She worked long hours and was always available to me for training and questions. I never heard her complain once.	Patrick Kramer	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management
Georgia West	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	Georgia works in Finance. She consistently brings compassion, humor, and equity considerations into work that could otherwise seem rigid and indifferent to justice.	Jonna Papaefthimiou	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management

Full Name	Nominee's Bureau/Office	Description	Nominator Name	Nominator Bureau/Office
Jonna Papaefthimiou	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	Jonna has been acting as the Interim Director of PBEM, leading the city through the Severe Weather Crisis' and COVID 19	Anonymous
Jonna Papaefthimiou	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	Jonna is been a fantastic and caring leader. She carries her daily work with a enormous smile that is more contagious than ONICROM. No matter if bureau is operating under an emergency declaration or not, she is always smiling and reminding all of her staff who is this work for, and how our most impacted community members benefit from our day to day activities. She seeks for opportunities to celebrate her peers and take the most challenging tasks under the perspective of possibilities.	Anonymous
Jonna Papaefthimiou	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	Wonder Women lead the charge to save others. Wonder-Responders demonstrated their commitment to help others during a long 2-year COVID-19 response that tested the limits of emergency response capacity to extremes. Every person was affected and touched by the pandemic. During this prolonged response and with many major adjustments for all in the City, additional emergencies arose – a heat dome with deadly excessive heat, snow and ice storms, power outages, and a chlorine shortage. The City set up shelters and vaccination clinics, we planned for continuity of operations, we discussed safety protocols and implemented them, and the City Emergency Coordination Center along with other Bureaus, remained activated on duty throughout this tumultuous time. Our female colleagues and work friends met the pandemic challenge, adapting in ways we never knew would be needed. I am proud of all of their efforts, and grateful for their steady resolve, their resilience, and their tremendous support. Some of my heroes may not think they were serving as responders, because they were doing their regular work, but it is often the foundational core duties that others perform that support successful emergency response. I greatly value that support and feel that everyone had a role in keeping the City functional, and in ensuring each others' safety – We got through this together. Wonder-Responders and the people who support their efforts all put on their COVID-Capes and became COVID-Conquerers, which is wonderful indeed!	Kim Parsons Anderson	Portland Water Bureau
Kate Szrom	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	As the sole leader of the COAD program (Community Organizations Active in Disasters), Kate builds long term relationships among organizations doing good works in Portland. From managing grants to delivering air conditioners during a heatwave, Kate is a role model of how government can support local groups.	Anonymous
Katy Wolf	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	In my personal and professional life, I've never encountered someone who spins as many plates as deftly and professionally as Katy Wolf. She has a phenomenal memory, attention to detail, and single-handedly keeps superiors and subordinates informed, supported, and equipped with the tools and information they need to serve the city well. Truly empathetic, dedicated, and a great listener, her tireless dedication and skill serving the City and the communities we serve is truly exceptional.	Anonymous

Full Name	Nominee's Bureau/Office	Description	Nominator Name	Nominator Bureau/Office
Katy Wolf	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	Wonder Women lead the charge to save others. Wonder-Responders demonstrated their commitment to help others during a long 2-year COVID-19 response that tested the limits of emergency response capacity to extremes. Every person was affected and touched by the pandemic. During this prolonged response and with many major adjustments for all in the City, additional emergencies arose – a heat dome with deadly excessive heat, snow and ice storms, power outages, and a chlorine shortage. The City set up shelters and vaccination clinics, we planned for continuity of operations, we discussed safety protocols and implemented them, and the City Emergency Coordination Center along with other Bureaus, remained activated on duty throughout this tumultuous time. Our female colleagues and work friends met the pandemic challenge, adapting in ways we never knew would be needed. I am proud of all of their efforts, and grateful for their steady resolve, their resilience, and their tremendous support. Some of my heroes may not think they were serving as responders, because they were doing their regular work, but it is often the foundational core duties that others perform that support successful emergency response. I greatly value that support and feel that everyone had a role in keeping the City functional, and in ensuring each others' safety – We got through this together. Wonder-Responders and the people who support their efforts all put on their COVID-Capes and became COVID-Conquerers, which is wonderful indeed!	Kim Parsons Anderson	Portland Water Bureau
Regina Ingabire	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	Regina is an asset to the City of Portland. Her expertise and passion for community engagement strategies and her connections in the community are valuable to both the city and community. Regina is kind and collaborative and I am honored to have worked closely with her in the city's pandemic response. It is in this experience that I learned first hand how her expertise and leadership is vital to reaching immigrant and refugee communities with critical skills and resources during an emergency. Her skills are essential in trust building with community and our city government. She is truly the best.	Tatiana Elejalde	Office of Equity and Human Rights
Regina Ingabire	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management	Regina is the bureau's Community Outreach Manager. Her work is focused on immigrants, refugees, and communities of color. She consistently takes time to meet community members where they are at, assist them in navigating City systems, and lift up their experiences, interests and needs in budget and policy-making discussions.	Jonna Papaefthimiou	Portland Bureau of Emergency Management