TOPIC: Notification Process for Final Land Division Decisions (Plats)

AUTHORITY: The Bureau of Development Services (BDS) has the authority for application, implementation and enforcement of the provisions of Planning and Zoning Regulations, Title 33. Under Section 3.30.040 A, the Director of BDS has the authority to adopt written policies and procedures for the enforcement of applicable Code provisions and laws.

In 2005, during the 73rd Legislative Session, HB 2356 was passed mandating that either approval or denial of a subdivision plat or a partition plat is not considered either a land use or limited land use decision. This determination nullifies the need for additional notification before the City makes these types of decisions.

As a result, on March 8, 2006, City Council modified Title 33 by Ordinance Number 179980, to bring the City law into conformance with the State law and removed all references to approval or denial of a subdivision plat or a partition plat from the requirements of a land use decision. Ordinance Number 179980 became effective on April 22, 2006. Because BDS believes that it is important to let members of neighborhoods know which subdivisions or partitions are being approved or denied, this rule outlines a simplified notification process.
