Other Designations: Contributing Resource – South Portland Historic District

Zoning: R2- Residential 2000

Case Type: HR – Historic Resource Review
Procedure: Type I, an administrative decision with appeal to the Oregon Land Use Board of Appeals (LUBA).

Proposal:

The applicant proposes to remove a non-historic door from a rear addition to the property and install a new wood door on the facing wall. The project would also include installation of a new wood window in place of the existing glass door. The applicant will reuse lap-siding from the project to fill spaces under the new window. Any additional cladding will be identical to that which exists on the property. The building is a contributing resource in the South Portland Historic District and thus this project requires historic resource review.

Relevant Approval Criteria:

In order to be approved, this proposal must comply with the approval criteria of Title 33. The relevant approval criteria are:

- 33.846.060G – Historic Resource Review

ANALYSIS*Site and Vicinity:

The subject property is identified as the A.P. Delin house in the National Register nomination form. It was constructed in 1892, and is large Queen Anne Style house. While its front elevation is largely intact it has at least one large contemporary addition to the rear of the property.

The South Portland Historic District is significant as the remnant of an early, originally much larger, working class and immigrant neighborhood that was greatly diminished by construction of the I-5 and I-405 freeways, and by large scale clearance under the auspices of Urban Renewal, during the 1960s and 1970s. The area was originally home to concentrations of ethnic and religious minorities from southern and eastern Europe, especially Italian Catholics and Jews from Poland, the Baltic States, and the Russian Empire. The majority of the district's remaining historic resources were built as residences, but with supporting commercial buildings, religious and social institutions, and small scale industrial structures scattered throughout the neighborhood fabric. Originally associated with workers at the shipping, manufacturing, and processing enterprises dependent on the nearby Willamette River, the area today is among the best remaining examples of a late Nineteenth Century working class residential neighborhood in Portland.

Zoning:

The Residential 2,500 (R2.5) single-dwelling zone is intended to preserve land for housing and to provide housing opportunities for individual households. The zone implements the comprehensive plan policies and designations for single-dwelling housing. The minimum density for new lots in this zone is 1 unit per 5,000 square feet and the maximum density is based on lot size and street configuration. Both detached and attached single-dwellings are allowed. Minimum lot size for both types of development is 1,600 square feet with minimum front lot line of 30 feet and minimum depth of 40 feet. There is no required minimum lot width or front lot line for lots that are developed with structures that meet certain additional development standards related to design.

The Historic Resource Protection overlay is comprised of Historic and Conservation Districts, as well as Historic and Conservation Landmarks and protects certain historic resources in the region and preserves significant parts of the region's heritage. The regulations implement Portland's Comprehensive Plan policies that address historic preservation. These policies recognize the role historic resources have in promoting the education and enjoyment of those living in and visiting the region. The regulations foster pride among the region's citizens in their city and its heritage. Historic preservation beautifies the city, promotes the city's economic health, and helps to preserve and enhance the value of historic properties.

Land Use History: City records indicate there are no prior land use reviews for this site.

ZONING CODE APPROVAL CRITERIA

Chapter 33.846.060 - Historic Resource Review

Purpose of Historic Resource Review

Historic Resource Review ensures the conservation and enhancement of the special characteristics of historic resources.

Historic Resource Review Approval Criteria

Requests for Historic Resource Review will be approved if the review body finds the applicant has shown that all of the approval criteria have been met.

Findings: The site is a designated as a contributing resource in a historic district. Therefore the proposal requires Historic Resource Review approval. The approval criteria are those listed in 33.846.060 G – Other Approval Criteria.

Staff has considered all of the approval criteria and addressed only those applicable to this proposal.

33.846.060 G - Other Approval Criteria

- 1. Historic character. The historic character of the property will be retained and preserved. Removal of historic materials or alteration of features and spaces that contribute to the property's historic significance will be avoided.
- 2. Record of its time. The historic resource will remain a physical record of its time, place, and use. Changes that create a false sense of historic development, such as adding conjectural features or architectural elements from other buildings will be avoided.
- 3. Historic changes. Most properties change over time. Those changes that have acquired historic significance will be preserved.
- 4. Historic features. Generally, deteriorated historic features will be repaired rather than replaced. Where the severity of deterioration requires replacement, the new feature will match the old in design, color, texture, and other visual qualities and, where practical, in materials. Replacement of missing features must be substantiated by documentary, physical, or pictorial evidence.
- 5. Historic materials. Historic materials will be protected. Chemical or physical treatments, such as sandblasting, that cause damage to historic materials will not be used.
- 6. Archaeological resources. Significant archaeological resources affected by a proposal will be protected and preserved to the extent practical. When such resources are disturbed, mitigation measures will be undertaken.

7. Differentiate new from old. New additions, exterior alterations, or related new construction will not destroy historic materials that characterize a property. New work will be differentiated from the old.

8. Architectural compatibility. New additions, exterior alterations, or related new construction will be compatible with the resource's massing, size, scale, and architectural features. When retrofitting buildings or sites to improve accessibility for persons with disabilities, design solutions will not compromise the architectural integrity of the historic resource.

9. Preserve the form and integrity of historic resources. New additions and adjacent or related new construction will be undertaken in such a manner that if removed in the future, the essential form and integrity of the historic resource and its environment would be unimpaired.

10. Hierarchy of compatibility. Exterior alterations and additions will be designed to be compatible primarily with the original resource, secondarily with adjacent properties, and finally, if located within a Historic or Conservation District, with the rest of the district. Where practical, compatibility will be pursued on all three levels.

Findings: The new window and door are located on an out-of-historic-character addition to the rear of the contributing resource. This addition does not possess the special significance to have become historically significant in its own right. The changes are not large enough to impact the form and integrity of the resource and are not visible from the district's public right-of-way. Because the changes are in an already heavily-altered and non-historic portion of the house they do not impact its character-defining elements or erode the buildings ability to act as a record of its time. The addition of historically sensitive materials, in this case a traditional style wood window and door, work the make the out of character addition to the property more in keeping with the Portland Zoning Code Chapter 33.846.060G. No alterations are proposed for the historic portions of the house and no subsurface impacts are proposed. There is no subsurface work associated with this project. Therefore these criteria are met.

DEVELOPMENT STANDARDS

Unless specifically required in the approval criteria listed above, this proposal does not have to meet the development standards in order to be approved during this review process. The plans submitted for a building or zoning permit must demonstrate that all development standards of Title 33 can be met, or have received an Adjustment or Modification via a land use review prior to the approval of a building or zoning permit.

CONCLUSIONS

The design review process exists to promote the conservation, enhancement, and continued vitality of areas of the City with special scenic, architectural, or cultural value. The proposed project does not impact any of the character defining features of the building and introduces historically appropriate materials to an addition that adversely impacts the resource. The proposal meets the applicable design guidelines and therefore warrants approval.
