DRAFT SERVICE LEVEL UPDATE

August, 2016

Growth in the construction industry has outpaced the City’s ability to keep up with related workload and meet many of its goals for timely service delivery. During the period June, 2015 – June 2106, the number of permit applications received and permits issued increased by approximately 15% over the previous year. Since January, 2016 the permit center has had an average of over 4,300 visitors per month and the zoning hotline received an average of over 1,000 calls per month. To address the increased workload, the Bureau of Development Services, and the other bureaus who do development review, are hiring additional employees. We appreciate your patience as we bring on new employees and get them trained, and apologize for the delays in our service delivery.

Please take these timelines into consideration as you prepare your project’s schedule.

Table with 3 columns: Service, Goal, Current Service Level. Rows include Permit Center, Phone Inquiries, Early Assistance and Pre-Applications, Land Use Reviews, and Building Permit Plan Review and Pre-Issuance.

Inspections
Inspections - Residential	90-95% within 24 hours	83% within 24 hours
Inspections - Commercial	90-95% within 24 hours	71% within 24 hours
Enforcement Services
Construction Code Complaints - Initial Inspection	3-5 business days	15 business days
Housing Complaints - Initial Inspection	3-5 business days	10-15 business days
Zoning & Nuisance Complaints - Initial Inspection	3-5 business days	15-20 business days

Note: Most residential remodels, additions and simple permits continue to be issued over-the-counter, although we have been experiencing extended wait times in the Development Services Center.

In addition to hiring and training more staff, the Bureau of Development Services is utilizing contract workers, receiving assistance from other government agencies, and many current employees are working overtime. We expect to see improvements to service levels within the next two or three months.

The submittal of complete and code compliant permit and land use review applications can help reduce review timelines for projects. The following resources may be helpful to you:

- Permits: Minimum submittal requirements are outlined in the Commercial New Construction and Additions – Applying for My Permit webpage and/or the Residential Permits webpage.
- Land Use Reviews: Minimum submittal requirements are outlined in the Land Use Review Application Checklist and/or the Zoning & Land Use Application Forms, Fees and Procedures webpage.
