33.634.010 Purpose
Providing area for recreation ensures that the recreational needs of those who will live on the site will be accommodated. Large land divisions — those that will create a minimum of 40 new dwelling units — create a neighborhood that is big enough to warrant a recreation area that is accessible to all in the new community. Creating the space for recreation at the time of the land division is the most efficient way to ensure that the space is created. The land division process provides the opportunity to design the recreation area so that it relates to the lot and street pattern of the land division.

33.634.100 Where These Regulations Apply
The regulations of this chapter apply to land divisions in residential zones when the proposed density is 40 or more dwelling units. In multi-dwelling zones, where no development is specifically proposed with the land division, the regulations of this chapter apply when the minimum required density for the site is 40 or more units.

33.634.300 Required Recreation Area Approval Criteria.
All of the following approval criteria must be met:

A. Location. Each recreation area must be located on a part of the site that can be reasonably developed for recreational use;

B. Accessibility. Each recreation area must be reasonably accessible to all those who will live on the land division site; and

C. Improvements. Each recreation area must be improved in order to meet the recreational needs of those who will live on the land division site. Provision for both active and passive recreation must be included. Where there is more than one recreation area, not all areas must be improved for both active and passive recreation. Recreation areas may include improvements such as children’s play equipment, picnic areas, open lawn, benches, paved walkways or trails, gardens, or organized sport fields or courts. Surety may be required which specifies the timing of recreation area improvements.
