C. Notice of Dwelling Unit Availability

1. If a Landlord simultaneously advertises the availability of more than one Dwelling Unit in the same property, the Landlord can fulfill the requirements of PCC 30.01.086.C.1 by:
 - a. Publishing notices at least 72 hours prior to the Open Application Period for rental of the available Dwelling Units through a combined notice that specifies the following:

- i. The number of Dwelling Units available;
 - ii. The range of number of bedrooms in the available Dwelling Units;
 - iii. The range of available Dwelling Unit sizes;
 - iv. The range of Rents for available Dwelling Units;
 - v. When the Landlord will begin to accept applications;
 - vi. The Landlord's Screening Criteria if the Landlord intends to charge a screening fee; and
 - vii. Which specific units, if any, are Accessible Dwelling Units.
 - b. The Landlord's Notice may incorporate this information or may provide an address, website address, internet link, or other method communicating where this information is available to prospective Tenants.
2. Landlords are not liable for advertisements created by third party sites that are not placed by or at the request of the Landlord, the Landlord's associate, agent, representative or employee.
3. If a Landlord advertises a waitlist's availability, the Landlord must publish notices for the waitlist's availability at least 72 hours prior to the date and time the Landlord will begin adding names to a waitlist. This requirement can be met by:

 - b. The Landlord's Notice may incorporate this information or may provide an address, website address, internet link, or other method communicating where this information is available to prospective Tenants.
 - c. A Landlord must create a separate waitlist for filling Accessible Dwelling Units.
 - d. Open waitlists that accept names on a rolling basis are not subject to the 72-hour wait period before adding names to the waitlist.

D. Open Application Period

1. Unless otherwise indicated by the Landlord, the Open Application Period begins on the date and time the Landlord begins to process applications which is effectively the advertised date and time Applicants can begin submitting applications.

E. Order of Processing Applications.

1. When multiple applications are received earlier than the Open Application Period:
 - a. Every complete application will be recorded as being received 8 hours after the start of the Open Application Period and considered in order of actual receipt in relation to other early applications.
 - b. For an Accessible Dwelling Unit, the Landlord must give priority to Applicants with a household member who is Mobility Disabled and applied before the Open Application Period, prior to considering other Applicants without a household member who is Mobility Disabled who applied either before or during the Open Application Period.

For example, a Landlord would process applicants in the following order:

- i. Applicants with a household member who is Mobility Disabled, who apply in the first 8 hours of the Open Application Period;
- ii. Applicants with a household member who is Mobility Disabled, who apply before the Open Application Period (recorded as hour 8);
- iii. Applicants with no household member who is Mobility Disabled, who apply in the first 8 hours of the Open Application Period;
- iv. Applicants with no household member who is Mobility Disabled, who apply before the Open Application Period (recorded as hour 8);
- v. Any Applicant, who applies after the first 8 hours of the Open Application Period.

Right to Request a Modification or Accommodation Notice Required Under Portland City Code Title 30.01.086.C.3.B

Within the City of Portland, a landlord is required to include this notice with application forms for the rental of a dwelling unit.

State and federal laws, including the Fair Housing Act, make it illegal for housing providers to refuse to make reasonable accommodations and reasonable modifications for individuals with disabilities. All persons with a disability have a right to request and be provided a reasonable accommodation or modification at any time, from application through to termination/eviction.

Some examples of reasonable accommodations include:

- Assigning an accessible parking space
- Transferring a tenant to a ground-floor unit
- Changing the rent payment schedule to accommodate when an individual receives public benefits
- Allowing an applicant to submit a housing application via a different means
- Allowing an assistance animal in a "no pets" building. More information about assistance animals is available here:
https://www.hud.gov/program_offices/fair_housing_equal_opp/assistance_animals

Some examples of reasonable modification include:

- Adding a grab bar to a tenant's bathroom
- Installing visual smoke alarm systems
- Installing a ramp to the front door

Under fair housing laws, a person with a disability is someone:

- With a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities of the individual;
- With a record of having a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities of the individual; or
- Who is regarded as having a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities.

Major life activities include, but are not limited to seeing, walking, reaching, lifting, hearing, speaking, interacting with others, concentrating, learning, and caring for oneself.

Reasonable Accommodations

A reasonable accommodation is a change or exception to a rule, policy, practice, or service that may be necessary for a person with a disability to have an equal opportunity to use and enjoy a dwelling. This includes public use and common spaces or fulfilling their program obligations. Any change in the way things are customarily done that allows a person with a disability to enjoy housing opportunities or to meet program requirements is a reasonable accommodation.

All housing or programs are required to make reasonable accommodations. Housing providers may not require persons with disabilities to pay extra fees or deposits or any other special requirements as a condition of receiving a reasonable accommodation.

Reasonable Modifications

A reasonable modification is a structural change made to the premises in order to afford an individual with a disability full enjoyment of the premises. Reasonable modifications can include structural changes to interiors and exteriors of dwellings and to public use and common areas.

Under federal law, public housing agencies, other federally assisted housing providers, and state or local government entities are required to provide and pay for structural modifications as reasonable accommodations/modifications. For private housing, the person requesting the reasonable modification will need to cover the costs of the modification.

Verification of Disability

In response to an accommodation or modification request and only when it is necessary to verify that a person has a disability that is not known or apparent to the housing provider, they can ask an applicant/tenant to provide documentation from a qualified third party (professional), that the applicant or tenant has a disability that results in one or more functional limitation. If the disability-related need for the requested accommodation or modification is not known or obvious, the housing provider can request documentation stating that the requested accommodation or modification is necessary because of the disability, and that it will allow the applicant/tenant access to the unit and any amenities or services included with the rental equally to other tenants.

A housing provider cannot inquire into the nature or extent of a known or apparent disability or require that an applicant or tenant release his or her medical records. Housing providers can require that the verification come from a qualified professional, but they cannot require that it be a medical doctor.

Nondiscrimination laws cover applicants and tenants with disabilities, as well as applicants and tenants and without disabilities who live or are associated with individuals with disabilities. These laws also prohibit housing providers from refusing to rent to persons with disabilities, making discriminatory statements, and treating persons with disabilities less favorably than other tenants because of their disability.

Under fair housing laws, it is illegal for a housing provider to deny reasonable accommodations and reasonable modifications to individuals with disabilities. If wrongfully denied an accommodation or modification contact HUD or the Fair Housing Council of Oregon. Time limits apply to asserting any legal claims for discrimination.

Call HUD toll-free at 1-800-669-9777 or TTY 1-800-927-9275 or visit https://www.hud.gov/program_offices/fair_housing_equal_opp/complaint-process
