Standards for Neighborhood Associations

Issues brought up:

Discussion on the size of neighborhood associations

- Review research on minimum, average and maximum sizes of Portland neighborhoods.

Geography:

- Smallest: Woodland Park 32 acres and Healy Heights 36 acres
- Largest: St. Johns 7055 acres and Forest Park 6,996 acres
- Average: 952 acres

Population:

- Smallest: NW Industrial Area 21 people and Healy Heights 221 people

- Largest: Centennial - 20,587 people and Hazelwood - 19,916 people
- Average: 4,798 people

Households:

- Smallest: NINA - 0 households, Healy Heights - 91 households, Ardenwald - 129 households
 - Largest: Hazelwood - 7,641 households and NW District - 7,567 households
 - Average: 2,029 households
- Minimum size of neighborhood associations of 200 households is arbitrarily based on minimum number required for a bulk mailing.
 - Academic research suggests an idea neighborhood is one-quarter mile square walking distance from the center, or ability to walk to a corner grocery. Transit oriented planning uses this concept that you don't walk more than 15 minutes from any transit stops.
 - We want to avoid allowing small groups of disgruntled individuals from breaking away and disrupting what are feasible sizes for functioning neighborhood associations.
 - East Portland neighborhoods are talking about breaking into smaller units which tends to be 1000 to 2000 households and 100 acres.
 - Question needs to be what is the size you need to have a viable and organizable neighborhood association?
 - Acreage minimums are crucial for addressing downtown and Pearl density levels that are increasing.
 - Densest block is 200 households in SW Portland.
 - Concern raised that acreage is more important to establish since population size can change and become denser over time.
 - We can deal with some of these issues through an appeals and grievance process.
 - Questions to answer for next meeting:
 - What is the mean of acres, population and household size?
 - How many neighborhoods could split and match the mean size.

Proposals

- Suggestion to hold the minimum to 1000 households and 100 acres as a politically feasible balance.
- Suggestion that neighborhoods range from 100 to 1000 acres. No, Patricia wants a very specific minimum.
- Suggestion minimum of 100 acres and 750 households.

Motions:

- No action.

Membership

- Issue of business representation in neighborhood associations. Should we require groups to have a business representative on the board? Many associations already do.
- Could have it say someone lives, owns real property, or operates a business.
- Question what if someone runs a business that is located absentee but does not have a building located in the area?
- Concern brought up that businesses could pack a meeting with all their workers when there is a contentious land use review action.

- Will need to consider if business definition covers non-profits.
- Committee generally supports the concept that we add operation of a business as a membership option.

Proposals

- Maintain membership, which is open to any person who lives or operates a business and/or owns any real property within the recognized boundaries of the neighborhood association.
- Suggestion that workers should have a right to be members.
- Suggestion that we can suggest options for associations to include students, workers, non-profit organizations, etc.

Motions:

- No motions.
