Chamber Music

for Strings, Winds, & Piano

Chamber Groups

Play trios, quartets or other works for strings, winds & piano with peers! The Community Music Center (CMC) Chamber Music Program serves the musical development of young musicians by refining ensemble skills & interpretive abilities through instruction with some of the region's top performing-artist instructors. Players are placed into chamber groups by audition. Ensembles have one hour each day with their coach, then rehearse a second hour supervised by an assistant coach. Groups perform their finished work for the public at Director Park in downtown Portland and at CMC.

Professional Coaching

Instructors are performing artists from CMC's renowned faculty with extensive chamber music experience. The 2017 program includes a master class by Chamber Music Northwest violinist Rebecca Anderson.

Chamber Orchestra

for Strings & Winds

Baroque Rules!

Andrew Ehrlich, conductor

When are 'fast' notes played slowly, and 'slow' notes played quickly? Are all notes that look the same treated the same? Get into the minds of composers like Bach, Telemann & Vivaldi, and discover new takes on old rules while playing masterpieces of the era.

Prerequisites for chamber program:

Ability to read music at playing level & some prior ensemble experience; for strings, vibrato and flexible bow technique. Suggested level for violins is Suzuki Book 4 and above, violas & cellos at Suzuki Book 3 or above.

The summer program is designed for intermediate to advanced players age 8 - 18 with to learn and perform new repertoire in an intensive environment. The Chamber Music & Chamber Orchestra programs together make a great day-camp experience!

CHAMBER COACHES

Andrew Ehrlich - BA Yale University; MM (violin performance) Illinois State University. Concertmaster: Portland Chamber Orchestra. Former member: Fear No Music.

Michelle Rahn - DMA, Performance Diploma and MM from Boston University. BM University of Oregon. Professor of Viola at University of Oregon.

Katherine Schultz - BM Northwestern University, MM Rice University. Principal of Portland Chamber Orchestra, Asst. Principal of Oregon Ballet Theater. Plays with Alameda Trio.
