

Ankeny Square— Downtown Commercial Lease Opportunity Request for Interest North Park Blocks, SW 8th Avenue and Ankeny Street, Portland, Oregon 97205

PP&R Program Objective

Portland Parks & Recreation (PP&R) invites individuals, community-based organizations, private businesses and non-profit organizations to submit proposals for a lease agreement at Ankeny Square. The goal of this lease agreement is to support activities that are responsive to critical community needs in the area, while also bringing daily positive activity and energy to Ankeny Square and the North Park Blocks. PP&R is seeking concepts that creatively use job skills training, educational opportunities, arts programming, or similar activities to support individuals experiencing or transitioning from homelessness, while also providing an amenity to the park. Successful proposal must demonstrate a sound business plan with financial sustainability.

PP&R recognizes that an effective, service-oriented lease agreement for this property has the potential to positively enhance the experience of park users, businesses and residents surrounding the North Park Blocks, as well as visitor experience downtown. Ankeny Square includes an outdoor plaza with café tables and seating, lighting, a stage/performance area, restrooms, water and electricity, and capacity to accommodate up to 5 vendors. PP&R will entertain proposals for an initial lease term of five (5) years with options to renew. Tenants will be responsible for all operating costs, including maintenance, utilities, and security. The lease rates will be negotiated based upon the type of proposed use, as well as tenant investment in permanent improvements to the site.

History

Ankeny Square is part of the North Park Blocks, and was gifted to the City of Portland in 1869 by John Couch, making it one of Portland's oldest parks. The original design concept for the North Park Blocks was for a continuation of the South Park Blocks, which had been dedicated to the City by Daniel Lowndale in 1852 as the first official greenspace in Portland. The Park Blocks (both North and South) were included in the original design of the City of Portland as continuous Park Blocks, and were integral to the 1903 Olmsted Plan. Six of the South Park Blocks were lost to private parties in 1873, but two of the missing blocks have since been recaptured (O’Bryant Square was purchased in 1973, and Director Park opened in 2009). The more recent development of Jamison Square, Tanner Springs Park and The Fields Park strengthened the network of open spaces that connect and encourage pedestrian movement throughout downtown Portland.

Ankeny Square is a critical central block because it extends the North Park Blocks, and pulls pedestrian movement, across Burnside to connect to the Midtown Blocks at O’Bryant Square and Director Park, and into the South Park Blocks. Portland Parks & Recreation strives to promote positive activity, safety and connectivity in the Park Blocks.

PP&R Goals for Ankeny Square

- Provide activities, job skills training, artistic expression, and/or educational opportunities to support individuals experiencing or transitioning from homelessness
- Reimagine Ankeny Square to become the vibrant, community open space it was always intended to be.
- Bring daily positive activity and energy to Ankeny Square.
- Keep the area clean and safe
- Support activities that are responsive to critical community needs in the area and provide positive park experiences.
- Support activities that promote connectivity, pedestrian movement, and safety in the North and South Park Blocks.
- Support activities that strengthen networks and encourage creative partnerships between the City, nonprofits, community-based organizations and residents.
- Support cultural, ritual, and artistic practices that bring diverse people together and contribute to more cohesive, resilient communities.

Challenges

- 1) Tenant Improvements: The buildings at Ankeny Square need repairs to be usable beyond storage. Ideally, the buildings could be opened up to the central plaza area, which would require significant tenant investment. PP&R does not have a budget for capital improvements at Ankeny Square, but the bureau will consider a reduced lease rate in exchange for tenant improvements.
- 2) Safety & Security: Past attempts to activate Ankeny Square have not been successful. The park is disconnected from the rest of the North Park Blocks by Burnside, and the South Park Blocks by private businesses. There are few lines of visibility from neighboring residents and area businesses. PP&R is seeking creative proposals with a realistic understanding of these challenges, and strategies for long-term, positive activation of the park.

Evaluation Criteria

This RFI requires proposers to provide the following:

- Cover Letter must include the following (5 points): RFI title, Name(s) of person(s) authorized to represent the Proposer in any agreement negotiations and execution, contact information (street address, phone and email addresses). graphics, including but not limited to images of your concept. If changes to the site are anticipated, proposal must include financial strategy for planned improvements.

Proposal Evaluation

An evaluation review committee will evaluate the proposals received. For the purpose of scoring, each of the committee members will evaluate proposals in accordance with the criteria and point factors listed above. The evaluation committee may seek outside expertise, including but not limited to input from technical advisors, to assist in evaluating proposals. High scoring to a proposal is not a guarantee that an agreement will result.

The successful proposer(s) shall be selected by the following process:

1. The committee will score the written proposals based on the information submitted according to the evaluation criteria and point factors.
2. The committee will require a minimum of 10 working days to evaluate and score the written proposals.
3. A short list of proposers may be selected for oral interviews if deemed necessary, which may result in additional points. The City reserves the right to increase or decrease the number of proposers on the short list depending on whether the proposers have a reasonable chance of being awarded a contract.

PP&R reserves the right to consider one or multiple proposals with compatible uses/activities. PP&R also reserves the right to reject all proposals. Nothing in this RFI mandates PP&R enter into any contract with proposer. Following the proposal evaluation, PP&R may select one of these options:

1. Approval of one or multiple proposals and enter into negotiations;
 - a. Lease for Ankeny Square anticipated to commence Spring/Summer 2018
