

Traffic Division Living History Event

This building originally was used as a combination City Hall, Police and Fire stations by the City of St. Johns until 1915, when the township merged with the City of Portland.

Today, the building houses the Portland Police Bureau's Traffic Division.

Please join us for our living history event featuring vintage police and fire vehicles, tours of the building, meet motor officers, enjoy refreshments, visit with the Portland Police Bureau Museum and the St. Johns Heritage Association, and much more!
