Portland should minimize its participation with the JTTF and FBI generally. We've seen a rise in the FBI using informants and agents to convince individuals to participate in faux terrorist plots concocted by the FBI. This is a dangerous and entrapment like behavior that Portland needs to avoid.

Q1 Please provide feedback for this directive

To Chief Outlaw, the PPB Directives Team, Mayor Wheeler and Commissioners Eudaly, Fish, Fritz and Hardesty:

We were among the many organizations who worked diligently to ask the Portland Police to remove its two part-time officers from the FBI's Joint Terrorism Task Force (JTTF). After Council voted to get those officers out of the Task Force, a second resolution passed on May 8 described the ways in which the PPB will interact with the JTTF moving forward.

One provision of that second resolution was for the Bureau to draw up a policy (Directive) describing that relationship. A draft policy (750.00) has been posted to the Bureau's website at <https://www.portlandoregon.gov/police/article/737115>.

Having examined the draft Directive carefully, the only major difference between the language in the policy and the language of the Council resolution can be found in Section 2.3, which has the Chief direct Criminal Intelligence Unit officers sharing information about the threat of terrorism with the JTTF. The resolution's version of this item included the important phrase "in compliance with Oregon State law." We strongly urge that phrase be added to the Directive as well.

We also suggest adding the following two sections to further assure that the reasons for withdrawing officers are safeguarded by this policy:

4.2 Any training material the FBI provides to PPB task force members will also be provided to and maintained by the city attorneys office (in accordance with the provisions of section 1.2).

4.3 Any training that is discriminatory and biased against any minority group shall be immediately reported to the city attorney and will be a basis for not participating in the JTTF (in accordance with the provisions of section 1.2).

We cannot let it go without saying, however, that the language reflected in Section 1.2 is based on an unacceptably broad policy set by Council in the Resolution. This is language we warned the Council could allow the PPB to work with the FBI's task force dozens or maybe hundreds of times per year if there are cases in which anyone's life is threatened or a hate crime is committed, as opposed to the handful of cases the PPB works on with the FBI now.

That language says the Chief can:

assign PPB officers to work with the Portland FBI JTTF to assist in the investigation of any individual suspected cases of terrorism and/or threats to life, including hate crimes, in or having a direct nexus to the City of Portland where there is reasonable grounds to suspect

Directive 750.00 Feedback

the subject of the information is or may be involved in criminal conduct.

It is still not clear why a Terrorism Task Force would be interested in any threat to life absent the qualities which would make that threat a form of terrorism, or how hate crimes by themselves automatically come under the rubric of terrorism. We urge the Chief, who now has the discretion to accept or reject in any case the FBI asks for assistance (Sections 1.1 and 3.1), to err on the side of caution. The many organizations who objected to the PPB working with the FBI raised recent and long-term concerns about how the secretive federal agency tends to target immigrants, communities of color, political activists and other vulnerable populations.

Finally, it has recently come to light that at least one PPB officer (Andrew Hearst) and the JTTF have been supporting the South Western Oregon Joint Task Force, which the Guardian newspaper reports is keeping tabs on environmental activists, but not necessarily based on reasonable suspicion of criminal activity.* We hope the Chief and Mayor recognize that the limitations set forth in the JTTF Resolution and Directive apply to all activities of Portland Police.

Thank you for your consideration
