Project Description

Reconfiguring the Ross Island Bridgehead (RIB) is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to reconnect a part of South Portland with improvements to SW Naito Parkway and land uses that contribute to a healthy connected community while also supporting Portland's first historic district. This project will not only improve connections for regional commuters and reduce cut-through traffic but will also open up publicly owned land for development of much needed housing. Redirection of traffic and improved pedestrian and bicycle connections will allow residents to safely reach currently inaccessible parts of their neighborhood and rebuild local street connections between South Portland neighborhoods.

Purpose of Meeting

The purpose of this meeting is to share information about the RIB and collect community input about future transportation improvements and land uses along Naito Parkway. Additionally, we will be starting a conversation about the potential development opportunities created by the new RIB configuration.

The Portland Bureau of Transportation fully complies with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the ADA Title II, and related statutes and regulations in all programs and activities.
