Water Main Break Causes Lane Closure at N. Lombard and N. Reno Streets

PORTLAND, OR -- An eight-inch cast iron pipe has caused the street to buckle at the intersection of N. Lombard Street and N. Reno Street in North Portland. There is no sink hole. Traffic is being directed to a single lane and motorists are encouraged to avoid this intersection.

Residents continue to have water service. Portland Water Bureau is working to repair the main break by the end of the day. An update will be posted when it has been fixed.

For additional information, please contact the Portland Water Bureau's Public Information Officer at 503-823-8064.
